Russian Care For Their Children Impresses Itself On Canadian Divine

Rev. Dr. W. E. Brewing Has Mixture Of Praise And Blame For Conditions He Found Existent In Land Of The Soviet

Picturing smiling and apparently happy children in the Soviet Russia of today and declaring that Russia was in a singing mood, Dr. W. E. Brewing, of St. Andrew's-Wesley, Vancouver, in an illustrated lecture in United Church Hall on Monday evening, compared the home life of those living under a Communist regime and a great social and industrial experiment with some of the Canadian homes of today—and he found Russia the safer for children.

Russian Social Life Revolves Round Industrial Plants

Social life in Russia, he said, revolved round the great industrial plants. For instance, next door to a rubber factory in Moscow was a huge nursery in which mothers working in the factories left their thousands of children while they pursued their employment. The women, incidentally, were allowed a holiday of two months before childbirth and two months after.

"Many may think that this system breaks up the home," said Dr. Brewing, "but when you compare Russian children with the Canadian home don't make the comparison with the homes you and I knew years ago but with fifty per cent of the homes I know so well in Vancouver today. The children in these Vancouver homes would be one hundred per cent safer in a social home in Russia. Nothing is finer than the right kind of a home, and no matter what system we live under we should make possible the right kind of homes. The Soviet Government is trying to do for all the people what charity here is doing for the few. Russia's care for her children is a living challenge to Christian nations everywhere."

A woman prejudiced against Soviet Russia had told the speaker some time ago that she had not thought it possible for children to be so happy under a government of that kind, and said that she would agree that, if she was going to be born again and could choose her birthplace, it would be Russia.

Competition With Christianity. On the other hand, the revolution in Russia and the anti-Christ doctrine taught brought the greatest competition to Christianity. Whether Russia could build without God remained to be seen. But Christianity was not dead in Russia, as many churches still functioned, although they were not allowed to teach Christianity.

"If a minister dared to criticize Communism," said Dr. Brewing, "he would be spirited away to Siberia and would never be heard from again. But one should not lose sight of the fact that a priest never enjoyed the privilege of speaking against the regime under the Czar. He would have less reason to speak against the Soviet. I think that, in the end, there will be a better Christianity in Russia than ever before. Will there be a better Christianity here? Will the people of Canada realize their obligation and make social changes for the welfare of the people as a whole?"

KELOWNA YOUNG WOMEN'S CLUB

Show To Be Put On And Children's Christmas Party Held

The regular supper meeting of the Kelowna Young Women's Club was held on Monday, Oct. 21st, in the Willow Inn. Several new members were enrolled.

Miss Florence McCarthy led the singing with Mrs. Kay McKergow accompanying.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Jean Backler was appointed as representative of the Club on the Board of Directors of the Kelowna and District Welfare Association.

Dr. Reba Willis gave the report of the Finance Committee, which suggested several methods of raising money. The first was the sponsoring of a show in the theatre early in December, with a short programme between shows. The second suggestion was to hold a raffle, tickets to be sold almost immediately and the drawing to take place at the show previously mentioned.

This report was followed by three excellent plans for the social service activities of the Club, the first being the arranging of a Christmas party for all deserving children, the Monday before Christmas. Secondly, the establishment of a creche to take care of children whose parents work in the packing houses. This plan would entail considerable money to put into existence but would soon pay for itself. The last suggestion was to take one needy family in town and look after its well being during the winter season.

After considerable discussion, it was decided to put on the show as early in December as possible and to hold the children's Christmas party.

Dr. W. E. Brewing, of St. Andrew's-Wesley Church, Vancouver, made a three months tour of European countries last summer, and since his return the minister has given numerous lectures on conditions in Soviet Russia, Germany, England and other countries as he saw them. Last winter he gave a brief summary of his impressions as guest speaker at the Kelowna Canadian Club, but the time at his disposal did not permit him to deal at length with so extensive a subject.

Dr. Brewing returned to Kelowna last week on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the United Church. He addressed the A.O.T.S. Club on Friday evening on the place of a men's club in the life of the church, and large congregations heard him preach at both morning and evening services at First United on Sunday. And on Monday evening, in the United Church Hall, he gave his well known lecture on "Innocents Abroad in Europe with a Movie Camera," illustrated by his own motion pictures taken in 1934. A large audience tuned out to hear the lecture, which was both entertaining and instructive, his oral descriptions of the different countries visited being supplemented by pictures taken on the spot.

Accompanied by Mrs. Brewing, he left on Tuesday for Penticton, where he lectured that evening. During their stay in Kelowna, Dr. and Mrs. Brewing were guests of Rev. W. W. and Mrs. McPherson.

ITALY FEARS GENERAL WAR NO LONGER

Much Encouragement Derived From British Foreign Policy On Sanctions

ROME, Oct. 23.—Sir Samuel Hoare's statement of British foreign policy excluding military sanctions from Britain's efforts to halt the Italo-Ethiopian conflict virtually banished from Italy today the dread of a European war. Informed Italian circles believe that the British Foreign Secretary's address to Parliament yesterday lessened still further the Anglo-Italian tension, already eased by mutual assurances of non-aggression.

A sense of relief spread through Italian official quarters after Sir Samuel Hoare's disclaimer of any British intention to employ military measures against Italy. These circles were impressed favourably by his declaration that Britain did not oppose Fascism. His admission that the closing of the Suez Canal would mean a European war and his recognition of Italy's need for expansion lent further encouragement to Italians.

ELECTIONS POSTPONEMENT CAUSES CONSTERNATION

Liberals And C.C.F. In Omnica And Burrard Are Disappointed

VANCOUVER, Oct. 23.—Premier Pattullo's radio announcement last night that the bye-elections in the provincial constituencies of Burrard and Omnica will be postponed indefinitely until the voters' lists in these ridings have been brought up to date has caused consternation in both the C.C.F. and Liberal camps.

The C.C.F. had gone so far in organization for the campaign in Burrard that choice of a candidate had narrowed down to Prof. King Gordon, defeated in Victoria at the recent Dominion election, and W. Pritchard, former Reeve of Burnaby. The Liberals have also sounded out a number of likely candidates.

SENIOR B HOOP TEAM FOR VERNON

VERNON, Oct. 23.—Vernon has decided to organize a men's Senior B basketball squad this season and enter in the race for Senior B honours.

"Dolly" Gray has been chosen President of the Vernon Basketball Association. Ronnie Dean has been elected Secretary.

FRANCE INCREASES POLICE STRENGTH

Steps Taken To Assure Public Safety In Event Of Disturbances

PARIS, Oct. 23.—The French cabinet, in a series of drastic decrees issued today, increased the strength of the Republican Guard and of the mobile police to twenty thousand men and put teeth in legislation to control the transportation and possession of arms.

Alarmed by the threat of open conflict between the United Socialist-Communist front and the Fascist-inclined Croix de Feu of Col. Francois de la Rocque, the cabinet endorsed the plans of Minister of the Interior Joseph Paganon to assure public safety.

DICK PARKINSON AGAIN HEADS HOOP CLUB

Record Attendance Of Enthusiastic Supporters At Annual Basketball Meeting Here

The annual meeting of the Kelowna Basketball Association was held in the lounge room of the Aquatic Pavilion on Tuesday evening, Oct. 15th, with the largest attendance of enthusiasts for many years. If the number present formed any criterion of the support to be extended to the sport this season, then Kelowna can look forward to another big year in the hoop game.

There was free discussion of all the matters that were brought before the gathering and keen interest was shown throughout. As an instance may be cited the nomination of eight for the committee of four.

Election Of Officers. As the result of the election, that staunch friend and supporter of basketball, Dick Parkinson, again heads the club for another season. Last year was his first term as President of the club, although he has been connected with it in some other capacity for many years. It was a hard year for any club to navigate without going in the red, and the fact that the club had a deficit of some eighty dollars is no fault of Dick or his executive, and the confidence of the members in his leadership was shown in his re-election by acclamation.

Honorary President W. B. M. Calder and Honorary Vice-Presidents E. C. Weddell, Jack Seaton, W. Spear and Harry Broad were all re-elected by unanimous vote. Dr. J. A. Henderson, who was Vice-President last year, was unable to stand for office this year, and his place was filled by Bert Johnston. The Secretary's duties were again entrusted by acclamation to Miss Kay Hill, who carried out the work with great efficiency during the past season, and a similar compliment was bestowed on the Treasurer, Mel Young, and his assistant, Harry Mitchell.

The familiar faces of three members of last season's Executive will be missing from the meetings to be held this winter, namely, Dr. Thorpe, who has been connected with the club ever since he arrived in the city, Dr. Henderson and Dr. Newby. The new Committee will consist of Roy Stibbs, Betty Peck, Ken Shepherd and Roy Hunt.

Finances. The meeting opened with the customary reading and adoption of minutes, after which the Treasurer submitted the financial report. It showed (Continued on Page 7)

UNITED CHURCH FINAL ANNIVERSARY SERVICES

Chairman Of Presbytery To Preach Next Sunday

Concluding the anniversary services commemorating the twenty-fifth year since the opening of the church, the prayer at the United Church next Sunday will be the Rev. R. R. Morrison, of Penticton, Chairman of the Kamloops-Okanagan Presbytery, who will bring the greetings of the Presbytery. In the morning, at 11 o'clock, he will speak on "Wanted—Direction," and in the evening his subject will be, "The Meaning of Life."

DUTCH SAILOR DIES FROM INJURIES IN COLLISION

Vessel Saved From Sinking By Quick-Witted Action

LONDON, Oct. 23.—One member of the crew of the Dutch vessel Alcione died today from injuries received when she collided with the Aberdeen and Commonwealth liner of Moreton Bay in the Thames below London last night.

The Alcione, badly damaged, is aground, having been saved from sinking by the quick-witted response of the officers of the Moreton Bay to the emergency when the two ships came together, ordering full speed ahead as the bows of the steamer filled the gaping hole in the Alcione's side.

HUNDRED AND EIGHTY TEACHERS AT CONVENTION

Mr. J. C. Loomer, Of Penticton, Is New President Of Association

VERNON, Oct. 23.—Mr. J. C. Loomer, of Penticton, succeeds Mr. Kenneth Caple, of Summerland, as President of the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Association. Mr. Loomer, who was elected at the annual convention of the Association held here on Thursday, Friday and Saturday last week, will choose his own executive.

It was not decided at the convention where the next annual meeting will be held.

The 180 teachers who attended were given a civic welcome by Mayor Prowse.

Among the outstanding speakers were Professor F. H. Soward, of the Department of History, and Professor G. G. Sedgewick, of the Department of English, University of British Columbia, both of whom addressed public meetings in addition to private sessions. A largely attended dance was held in the National Ballroom on Friday evening.

VERNON, Oct. 23.—A new hotel will be built at Lumby by a Vancouver syndicate.

NEW BRITISH LABOUR PARTY LEADER

Major Clement R. Atlee, deputy leader of the British Labour Party, has been chosen to succeed the veteran George Lansbury, who resigned the leadership as a protest against the decision of his followers to support sanctions against Italy.

TRANSIENTS ARRAIGNED ON CHARGES OF THEFT

One Man Admits Guilt, Other Awaits Trial

Arrested on Friday night as a result of investigations by Provincial Constable Wyman, Arthur Belanger and Eddie Carmel, transients, were arraigned in Court on Saturday on two separate charges, Belanger facing a charge of breaking and entering "Nobby" Clarke's second hand store on Water Street, in the vicinity of which the two men were apprehended, and Carmel being charged with stealing a fountain pen, valued at $16.50.

Carmel pleaded guilty to the charge of theft and was remanded for sentence. The pen, which was the property of W. A. McGill, manager of P. E. Willis & Co., Ltd., was recovered in the room occupied by accused and Belanger in the Star Cafe. It was found in one of the bedposts, the castor having been removed, the pen inserted and the castor replaced.

"Nobby" Clarke's store was broken into on Friday night, when a quantity of miscellaneous articles, recovered by the police, was awaiting trial and Carmel is awaiting sentence. Both cases were remanded on Tuesday until Saturday.

SEARCH FOR MISSING CHILD IS FRUITLESS

Bear Creek Area Combed For 3-Year-Old Boy Who Disappeared Thursday Last

A well organized and extensive search in which hundreds have participated for the past week has so far failed to throw any light upon the mysterious disappearance of 3-year-old Danny Schlechter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schlechter, of Bear Creek, who was last seen from his home at 7 o'clock on Thursday morning last and has not been seen since.

The only clue discovered by the searchers was what was believed to be the print of a child's bare foot. This mark was found about two miles from the Schlechter residence on Sunday, just before dark, when the search was resumed on Monday morning.

The child left home clad only in a pair of overalls, having no hat and nothing on his feet. Since his disappearance, cold, rainy weather and biting winds, with some snow in the hills, have prevailed. Although the hills are covered with a hardy layer of snow, more knowledge of the whereabouts of the missing child is hoped for by finding him alive and abandoned days ago.

Search parties in charge of Provincial Constable Butler and Game Warden Maxson and consisting of many people skilled in tracking, along with some of the best dogs available, have combed the surrounding district for miles for the past week, but the numbers there were hundreds out on Sunday—were gradually dwindling and on Wednesday only a few searchers were continuing.

It was at first thought that the boy had fallen into Bear Creek, a few miles from the house, and drowned, but every section of the creek bank and every nook and cranny of the water in the creek—has been searched for miles to no avail. Wells in the vicinity have been pumped out and the area thoroughly combed, with no result.

The theory is held by a few that a cougar might have carried off the child, but this is generally discounted.

The missing lad is the eldest of three children. His parents are Pennsylvania Dutch and have a goat ranch in the Bear Creek area.

Mr. Schlechter has not yet given up hope of finding his child. He was away from the search on Wednesday morning before others of the party arrived.

ELECTION IN BRITAIN SET FOR NOV. 14

Premier Baldwin Makes Announcement—New Parliament To Assemble Nov. 26th

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Premier Baldwin announced in the House of Commons today that the general election date had been set for Thursday, Nov. 14th.

In his speech, the Premier said that it seemed to be the wisest thing to get the elections over with, and Parliament would be prorogued and dissolved on Friday. The new Parliament would assemble on Nov. 26th, with the state opening on Dec. 3rd.

Turning to the question of world peace, the Premier said: "In the interests of world peace it is essential that our defensive forces should be stronger than they are today. I will not pursue my policy or be responsible for the government of this country if I am not given power to remedy the deficiencies which have occurred in our defensive forces since the war."

This declaration was received with loud cheers.

Continuing, Mr. Baldwin said: "I am not speaking of rearmament as directed against any one country. I am at the strengthening of defensive forces within the framework of the League of Nations for the sake of international peace and not for any selfish ends."

The Prime Minister strongly defended the League, declaring: "It behooves us to see what we can do to make the League adequate. If I am returned to power, I will make the most earnest effort of which I am capable to that end."

Frankly admitting that Britain was making great risks for the sake of world peace, Mr. Baldwin said he was convinced that Parliament and the country in general were behind the Government in its policy.

"I warn the country," he said, "that there are risks of peace. A greater measure of preparedness is necessary. If I am given power, I shall leave this policy of peace to those who think that the risks are worth running, remembering that the Government is responsible for the safety of every man, woman and child."

MARKETING ACT TO BE EMASCULATED

New Government Will Likely Remove Compulsory Provisions Forthwith

An Ottawa dispatch states that "compulsory features of the Marketing Act will be repealed by Order-in-Council when the King Government takes office, the Toronto Star was informed on Monday."

"The Act can, it is stated, be amended without sanction of Parliament, and those sanctions which invest the cabinet with powers to compel sales through a single channel, to give the extra-mural authority the right to impose fines and even imprisonment and to the government the right to regulate both domestic and foreign trade, are scheduled for immediate revamping."

CANADA MEMBER OF WORLD LABOUR BODY

GENEVA, Oct. 23.—Canada was unanimously elected today to the governing body of the International Labour Office in succession to Germany.

In acknowledging the election, Dr. Walter Riddell, Dominion's Advisory Officer here, said that it came at a time when the interest of the Canadian people in social and industrial problems was greater than ever before.

The governing body will meet again tomorrow to select a chairman, who, it is understood, will probably be Dr. Riddell.

Tree Fruit Board Loses Case Against F. H. Keane, Penticton Grower-Shipper

Magistrate Dismisses Action On Technical Grounds After Three-Day Legal Battle—Chairman Haskins Intimates Board Will Appeal

THE B. C. Tree Fruit Board's action against F. H. Keane, Penticton grower-shipper, charged with shipping two carloads of apples other than through an agency designated by the Board, was dismissed by Magistrate G. A. McLelland in Penticton Police Court on Tuesday morning, following a three-day legal battle, on the technical grounds that when the order was made prohibiting shipments except through designated agencies the Board was a Provisional Board and had no power to make the order.

Immediately after the magistrate's decision was handed down, Mr. W. E. Haskins, Chairman of the Board, announced his intention to appeal to a higher court. At the same time, in view of the fact that the authority for the order referred to has been called into question, the 1935 elected Board, whose right to hold office is in no way affected, will today again pass the order in question thus making it illegal for any persons or firms other than designated agents to make further shipments. Mr. Keane has about three cars left for shipment but is in a position where he will risk another court action if he attempts to market them himself.

The following is a copy of the written judgment handed down by Magistrate McLelland following the dismissal of the charge with marketing two carloads of apples other than through an agency designated by the British Columbia Tree Fruit Board contrary to the order of British Columbia Tree Fruit Board made on the 4th of July, 1934.

"By Order-in-Council dated June 29, 1935, the 1934 Scheme under the 'Natural Products Act' was revoked and a new Scheme was enacted by the same Order-in-Council to take effect on July 1st, 1935. By this Order-in-Council, Walter Haskins, Orris W. Hembling and George Barrat were appointed a Provisional Board until such time as an election could be held as provided in said new Scheme. It also provided for an elected Local Board and certain powers and privileges were granted to the Local Board. Nothing was said in the Order-in-Council as to any powers given to the Provisional Board, and I am of the opinion that they were appointed solely for promotion and organization purposes and not for the purposes of taking over the powers of an elected Local Board."

"On the 4th day of July, 1934, this Provisional Board met and passed an order prohibiting the marketing of products unless through an agency to be designated later. Prior to this, products had been shipped by permits, issued by the Board. There was some dispute as to whether this order was adopted by the members sitting as an elected Local Board of 1934, or as a Provisional Board of 1935, appointed by the Order-in-Council dated June 29th, 1935, both Boards being composed of the same members, but Mr. Barrat, a member, swears positively that on that date the members sat as a Provisional Board under the Order-in-Council, and I am convinced they did sit as a Provisional Board. This Order-in-Council which approves of the new Scheme gives certain powers and privileges as to the elected Local Board and it is hardly conceivable to think that it was the intention of the Order-in-Council to give to the Provisional Board the power to make orders making such drastic changes as changing (Continued on Page 4)

City Tax Receipts Almost Reach High Level Of Last Year's Payments

Splendid Percentage Of 91.91 Attained In Collections, Comparing Very Favourably With Figure Of 92.11 Per Cent For 1934

WITH all the members of the City Council in attendance at the regular meeting on Monday night except Ald. Galbraith, who was out of town, Mr. P. T. Dunn, City Assessor and Collector, had a gratified audience when he submitted his report upon collection of civic taxes up to the last day, October 19th, before imposition of the ten per cent penalty for delinquency. The report showed that out of a total levy of $113,308.54 for the current year, including taxes on real estate and improvements, sewer connection taxes, local improvement taxes, sewer rentals and Coding Moth special spray charges, $104,149.49 had been collected, or 91.91 per cent of the levy. The levy for 1934 totalled $118,308.54, of which $108,940.03, or 92.11, was collected. The percentage of collections has, therefore, only to the extent of not quite one-fifth of one per cent.

Except for last year, the percentage of collections is the highest since the record year of 1929, the figures back to 1924 being as follows: 1935, 91.91; 1934, 92.11; 1933, 89.15; 1932, 89.22; 1931, 91.06; 1930, 91.6; 1929, 93.66; 1928, 93.0; 1927, 92.6; 1926, 92.9; 1925, 90.66; 1924, 89.45.

This year's prepayment of taxes previous to Sept. 1st, on which interest at the rate of five per cent per annum is paid, amounted to $25,840.11, as compared with a total of $18,694.37 in 1934, or an increase this year of $7,145.74.

In cordial terms, His Worship the Mayor expressed the appreciation by the Council of the loyal and painstaking services of the Collector, who, as usual, had prevented a number of delinquent taxpayers from becoming delinquent by reminding them of the penalty date before it was too late.

Dangerous Rock Bluff On Dilworth Mountain

A letter from Mr. E. W. Barton, Secretary of the Kelowna Golf Club, stated that he had been instructed to call the attention of the Council to the condition of the rock bluff on Dilworth Mountain immediately adjacent to the point where the City was now taking away shale for road purposes.

"We consider," the letter went on, "that the continued hauling away of shale from the base of this cliff is creating a hazard of which some notice should be taken by the City Council. With a loose formation such as this, there is a grave danger sooner or later of a large mass of this rock falling."

BETTER MAIL SERVICE BETWEEN OKANAGAN CITIES

Says the Penticton Herald:
"Mail service in the Okanagan is not what it ought to be.

"Southbound mail coming down by train and mail stage affords a better service than formerly, but improvements might well be made in the north-bound service.

"Nothing much could be done about the mail going going north for eastern transportation, but there should be a speeding up of the mail between here and Vernon.

"Under present conditions mail for the north leaves Penticton by mail car to catch the first ferry across the lake. It arrives at Kelowna at approximately eight o'clock in the morning. But it remains there until nearly three in the afternoon before being carried north in the train to Vernon and Sicamous, thence out on the main line. This may be all very well for the eastern letters, but it occasions a very long delay in communication between Penticton and Vernon.

"Why not have the mail rig run through to Vernon, connecting with the train there instead of at Kelowna? Thus Penticton mail destined for Vernon would arrive in the northern city at about nine-thirty in the morning instead of four-thirty in the afternoon. Such a service would make it possible to have an answer from Vernon down on the afternoon mail stage, instead of next day.

"Closer and swifter communication between Okanagan points will lead to a better relationship between all sections of the Valley."

To the last sentence most reasonable people will add an emphatic "Amen!"

Giving the correct times instead of those stated by the Herald, which are slightly incorrect, the mail from the south crosses on the 8.30 a.m. ferry from Westbank, arriving in town at about 8.45. The north-bound mail closes at 3.10 p.m., the C.P.R. train leaving at 3.45. During the intervening period, mail from the south for Vernon and points north and east lies in Kelowna simply for lack of transportation.

The Herald suggests that the truck which conveys the mail to Kelowna should continue on to Vernon, but the view of the authorities apparently is that this would duplicate the means of transportation offered by the C.P.R. train, even if the time of departure of the latter involves a delay of seven hours. It is stated that the only portion of the mail which would be expedited would be the local matter to Vernon from Kelowna and southern Okanagan points, the quantity of which is said to be very small, while the remainder of the mail truck's load, consisting of a large amount for Eastern points, would have to wait in Vernon until the train arrived from Kelowna.

Accepting these objections as facts, a simple and inexpensive solution offers itself. If the local mail between Penticton and Vernon is small in quantity, as stated, there is no need to run a large truck from Kelowna to Vernon on a special trip with it at heavy expense when the passenger stage can easily carry the odd sack or two of mail. The morning Greyhound stage leaves Kelowna northbound at 9.55 a.m., or an hour and ten minutes after the mail truck arrives from the south. This would give a good connection for dispatch of local mail from Penticton, Kelowna and way points to Vernon, while the heavy mail destined for Eastern points could follow by the afternoon train. The cost of such a service by the Greyhound stage undoubtedly would be very reasonable.

If the Boards of Trade of the three towns primarily concerned would take up the matter in earnest, there should be no difficulty in securing a decided improvement in the exchange of mail between these points.

GOVERNMENT SHOULD BUILD FOR THE FUTURE

It is very disappointing to learn that the plans for the new federal building in Kelowna have been drawn with no thought of further rapid growth and development of a town that has grown from nothing to five thousand people in forty-three years and that has doubled its population within the past twenty years. The plans show a very neat edifice, more like a business block than a government building and lacking the traditional tower and clock with which the majority of such structures across the breadth of Canada are adorned. It is of such size that the site will not be fully occupied, and the sketches show it surrounded by a strip of lawn.

Kelowna loves gardens and lawns, but its chief need in its federal building is more post-office boxes, sorting and mail handling facilities than grass, and when it is learned that the floor space allotted to postal purposes in the proposed building is about 212 square feet LESS than the area occupied in the building now in use there will be general disappointment. The plans of the new building quite evidently were drawn by some one who has no knowledge of the history of Kelowna's rapid growth nor any faith in its continued expansion. In theory, the design is excellent but in practice the postal officials will be cramped for space and badly hampered in their work, especially at the rush times of holiday seasons.

As an instance of the unsuitability of the postal accommodation to the requirements of Kelowna, it may be mentioned that the present screen carrying the boxes and drawers will just fit into the space provided in the plan, which means that no boxes can be added after all those now provided are rented. Vernon suffered the same disability for many years, which is being remedied at long last by the construction of an addition this year. Surely a new building which does not provide for the addition of any boxes to meet the needs of a growing town is an absurdity.

In another respect the accommodation provided is absolutely inadequate. A very large volume of mail is handled for Kelowna Rural Route No. 1, which serves a populous district. The mail carrier does his own sorting for the rural mail boxes, and the present facilities for that purpose are fairly adequate and commodious, located in the general mail receiving room, a large apartment which, spacious though it is, frequently is piled high with the heavy mails received here. In the plan a little cubby-hole, about seven by eight feet in dimensions, is designated as the mail receiving room.

It is difficult to understand the lack of common sense shown by Public Works officials in ignoring the requirements of Kelowna when preparing the design of the new building. Surely the obvious thing to have done was to send a competent man here to take observations of the amount of mail handled, the floor space necessary to deal with it, the number of boxes and drawers in use, and then add at least fifty per cent to the accommodation to take care of requirements for the next twenty years.

If Kelowna makes no effort to replace grass plots with more postal space, it will have to suffer the consequences of cramped post-office quarters for another generation, and action should be taken at once before construction is started—that is, if the new government proposes to go ahead with the work.

THE BATTLE OF TRAFALGAR AND DEATH OF NELSON

(The Cowichan Leader)

Monday was the 130th anniversary of the Battle of Trafalgar, and The Leader has been fortunate to receive from a correspondent an original copy of The Times of Wednesday, November 6, 1805, which contained the first dispatches announcing the victory to England.

The paper is of four pages, about half the size of a page in The Leader. The front page and most of the back page consist of advertisements. On page two, under the heading, "The London Gazette Extraordinary," appear the dispatches from Lord Collingwood, who succeeded Nelson in command: "Burial of Vice-Admiral Lord Viscount Nelson, who in the late conflict with the enemy fell in the hour of victory, leaves to me the duty of informing my Lords Commissioners of the fleet Admiralty that . . . (He describes how the fleet first received notice that the enemy was aiming to break through the Straits of Gibraltar into the Mediterranean.)"

Discover Enemy

"On Monday, the 21st instant, at daylight, when Cape Trafalgar bore E. by S. about seven leagues, the enemy was discovered about six or seven miles eastward, the wind about west and very light."

"The Commander-in-Chief immediately made the signal for the fleet to bear up in two columns as they are formed in order of sailing; a mode of attack his lordship had previously directed to avoid the inconveniences and delay in forming a line of battle in the usual manner."

"The enemy's line consisted of 33 ships (of which 18 were French and 15 Spanish), commanded in chief by Admiral Villeneuve. The Spaniards, under the direction of Gravina, were with their heads northward, and formed their line of battle with great closeness and compactness; but as the mode of attack was unusual, so the structure of their line was new."

Crescent Formation

"It formed a crescent, convexing the leeward, so that in leading down the centre I had both their van and rear aback the beam. Before the fire opened every alternate ship was about a cable's length to windward of her second ahead and astern, forming a kind of double line, and appeared to move on their beam to leeward, very little interval between them; and this without crowding their ships."

"Admiral Villeneuve was in the Bucentaure in the centre, and the Prince of Asturias bore Gravina's flag in the rear; but the French and Spanish ships were mixed without any apparent regard to order of national squadron."

"As the mode of our attack had been previously determined on and communicated to the flag officers and captains, few signals were necessary, and none were made except to direct close order as the lines bore down."

"The Commander-in-Chief, in the Victory, led the weather column, and the Royal Sovereign, which bore my flag, the lee."

Action Begins

"The action began at 12 o'clock by the leading ships of the column breaking through the enemy's line, the Commander-in-Chief about the tenth ship from the van, the Second-in-Command about the twelfth from the rear, leaving the van of the enemy unoccupied; the succeeding ships breaking through in all parts, astern of their leaders, and engaging the enemy at the muzzles of their guns."

"The conflict was severe; the enemy's ships were fought with a gallantry highly honourable to their officers; but the attack on them was irresistible, and it pleased the Almighty Disposer of all events to grant His Majesty's arms a complete and glorious victory."

"About 3 p.m., many of the enemy's ships having struck their colours, their line gave way. Admiral Gravina, with ten ships joining Cadix, the five headmost ships, in the van, stood towards Cadix. The five headmost ships, in the van of the British line, were engaged, and the sternmost of them taken; the others went off, leaving to His Majesty's squadron nineteen ships of the line (of which three are first-rates)."

Other Details

Admiral Collingwood goes on to detail the ships taken, and in another dispatch, dated two days later, he tells of the great difficulty in retaining the prizes during a heavy gale which came up after the battle and almost blew the battered fleet ashore.

The Times also prints two general orders from Admiral Collingwood to the fleet: the first thanking all officers and men for their heroic service; the second setting aside a day for thanksgiving to God.

There is a list of killed and wounded on the British side, a two-column editorial in honour of Nelson, a poem celebrating the victory in heroic strain, and an account of rejoicings in Covent Garden Theatre, and the following description of "Lord Nelson's Last Moments":

Sailor To The End

"When Lord Nelson was shot, and was yet in the arms of the men who were supporting him, his eye caught the tiller rope, which was unusually slack.

POINTS OF VIEW

MUSSOLINI IN HISTORY

(Nanaimo Herald)

Should the worst happen, the great Mussolini will go down in history as its chief cause. This is a strange turn for a man who slogged through the Great War as an infantryman, and did his bit in war which was supposedly fought to end war. Imagine a country like Italy, under a leader like Mussolini, with all the lessons and sorrows of the Great War still fresh in heart and mind, setting out on a war of conquest. Mussolini, it has been charged, is dreaming of a second Roman Empire. It is another strange turn that when the Romans made their first challenge for imperial supremacy, they made war against the Carthaginians. It was a great war, and took many unexpected turns. The Carthaginians held the seas but the Romans built a fleet and routed the Carthaginians. Then Hannibal marched from New Carthage in Spain across the Pyrenees and destroyed every Roman army that dared to face him. He would in fact have conquered Italy and taken Rome but for the treachery of the governing group at home. And here is Mussolini setting about the founding of a second Roman Empire, with Ethiopia in Northern Africa as his starting point.

SALTING HIGHWAYS

(Nelson Daily News)

Scarcely a day passes but some new results of scientific research get the layman marvelling. One of the latest of these advances that may have far-reaching application is the paving of highways with salt. The process consists of mixing salt with the clay of the roadbed. As enthusiasts declare, this gives "practically a concrete road."

The mixture of salt and clay, it is claimed, retards evaporation of moisture, thus keeping the top surface moist and firm. Once the salt mixture becomes crystallized and the surface packed down, a non-skid road results. New York state has been experimenting with salt-soil-stabilized roadways. The cheapness of the process is said to be one recommendation. About 12 tons of salt a mile of 20-foot highway are required for the new road, or about two pounds a square yard; cost is around $450 a mile, as compared with approximately $1,500 a mile of asphalt road.

A Canadian salt company has salted a stretch of road near New Glasgow. The mixture laid down was composed of clay, beach gravel and such crushed stone as was already loose on the road, with salt. A scarifier was used to work up the surface; a mixture of the clay, gravel and salt was spread over the roadway, traffic smoothing it down. The coating was thin, not an inch thick, but it soon rolled down to smooth, hard, dustless surface. The salted road is reported to be as smooth as concrete, quite whitish in colour and positively dustless. It has been subject to heavy traffic and is standing up well.

TREATING TOURISTS RIGHT

(Regina Leader-Post)

The Ottawa Journal cites a letter from a Philadelphia citizen who has recently been on a motor trip to Canada and who offers the view that the Canadian people are just about as courteous as might be desired. He says that about a Canadian citizen and official met co-operated to make his trip a success and that he found Canadian police officers "polite, helpful, refreshing."

There is a personal responsibility upon every Canadian who comes in contact with tourists. That responsibility should be to do all he or she can to make such visitors want to come back to Canada again, to come back as often as possible. The responsibility can be discharged by courteous and just treatment. Gruff treatment and extortion with respect to prices charged for services is one of the most effective ways of driving tourist business away from Canada.

This American's tribute to Canadian police officers as courteous, helpful men will be well received in Canada. There has been an improvement in this respect in a generation.

COMMODORE VANDERBILT

(Christian Science Monitor)

A youth of sixteen, living on Staten Island, N. Y., went to his mother and asked her to lend him $100, with which to buy a boat. She had the money, but declined to give or lend it to her son. She did, however, make him a proposition. Adjoining the house was an eight-acre field. She told him if he would plough and plant that field before his birthday, the matter of twenty-six days, she would give him the money.

It looked like a big job, but the youngster tackled it with determination. He got other boys to help him by promising them rides in his boat! With their assistance he not only got the whole field ploughed, but enclosed it with a wall made from stones taken from the land.

He purchased his boat which, it soon developed, was not to be used for pleasure. Instead he began transporting produce for the farmers. The business prospered and boat after boat was added to the fleet. His friends nicknamed him "The Commodore," and that name stuck throughout his lifetime. The boy was Cornelius Vanderbilt.

ESSENTIALS OF DRIVING

The first trick the modern automobile driver must acquire is pushing a modern horn button, but the knack is in knowing when to do it. The best time is when there are four cars lined up in front of you at a red light. You should immediately blow your horn vigorously at the car directly in front of you. This shows the driver that you have a live interest in the progress of traffic on the particular thoroughfare you are on, and may even prompt him to exchange a few words with you. After all, there's nothing like conversation to enliven an automobile trip.

Next in importance comes cigarette-ash flipping. Too many cigarette-smoking drivers are careless with their ash, and allow it to drop on their coat lapel or the floor of their car, thus creating an unsightly mess and even producing a fire risk. The cigarette should be held at arm's length, or the left window of the car, the ash to be frequently flicked with an unoccupied finger. Besides keeping your car clean and safe, this also prevents motorists behind you—especially if they are nearsighted—from unexpectedly passing you. This also will usually bring you a few well-chosen words of commendation from neighboring drivers.

I believe bobbing and weaving are next, I am happy to report, make a practice of keeping in one lane continuously, never suddenly veering into a different one. This is very inconsiderate to the drivers

He exclaimed, with much emphasis, "Tighten that rope there!" an eminent proof that his professional ardour still survived the brilliancy of the flame of life.

"When he saw his secretary and his friend, Mr. Scott, thrown overboard, uncertain of the fate of the vessel, it was him or no, he inquired with affectionate ardour: 'Was that poor Scott?'"

"An impression seems to be made on Lord Nelson, for as the men were carrying him down to the cockpit, he said: 'Don't let me be thrown overboard; tell Hardy to carry me home!'"

The Times also records how the joyful news of the victory was carried to His Majesty and how "His Majesty wears a green shade constantly over his eyes, after candle-light; and we are sorry to say, he cannot distinguish any person, except he be near, and with the assistance of a glass."

In Bygone Days

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Thursday, October 19, 1905

"Twenty degrees of frost is reported from the bench land Wednesday morning."

"The Okanagan Fruit & Land Co. sold six one-acre town lots last week."

"The potatoes that were not picked before Wednesday's frost were slightly damaged."

"Cold weather has set in exceptionally early this fall. Old-timers say they do not remember ever seeing it so cold at this season of the year."

"Leon Gillard shot four silver tips this week, the mother and her three cubs. Mr. Gillard has disposed of the skin of the old bear for $40.00."

"Mr. Glenn, who has a plot of land within the city limits, and had it planted in potatoes, picked as many as twenty-three tons per acre from some of it, the lowest yield being in the neighbourhood of twenty tons."

"Friday the 13th, proved an unlucky day for the s.s. 'Aberdeen' and her passengers, she having run on a sand-bar at Shorts' Point. In attempting to get off, she broke one of her engines and it was four hours before she was able to continue on her way."

"Five boats sunk on Okanagan Lake during Monday night's gale. No lives lost. The wind, which had been blowing all Monday, increased as the day waned and by midnight had grown to a regular gale, and all the launches in the boat-house, with the exception of one, filled with water and sank. However, they have all been raised again and are little damaged."

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Thursday, October 21, 1915

"About forty members of the Kelowna Volunteer Reserve paraded to the Anglican Church on Sunday morning. During the service the Rev. T. Greene gave a most appropriate address. In the afternoon of the same day a party comprised chiefly of prospective non-commissioned officers of the Reserve held signalling practice on Knox Mountain."

"At the annual meeting of the Kelowna Benevolent Society last Monday, it was decided that the Society should disband, as need for their work did not appear to exist at the present time."

TEN YEARS AGO

Thursday, October 22, 1925

"The Occidental cannery closed down for the season last Thursday. This year, 150 on an average were employed there."

"The local packing houses are still busy, the varieties packed being Newtown, Winesap, Stayman, Rome Beauty, Spitzenberg, Gano and the late kinds in general, but the outside packing houses of the Kelowna Growers' Exchange at Rutland and the Belgo have closed down, though all others are still running."

"The Occidental Fruit Company is still exporting apples to Great Britain, but its shipments to Scandinavia have ceased. It is sending considerable quantities of onions, cabbage and potatoes to prairie points, also to B.C. Coast points. The company has sent a fine apple and canned goods exhibit to the Auckland, N.Z., exhibition, which commences early next month."

In back of you, because it gets monotonous, and when things get too monotonous a driver is apt to go to sleep at the wheel. If, however, you cut in and out consistently and without warning, you will keep the people behind you alert and on their toes, the way, obviously, that any driver should be.

Next, the driver must master parking, which, to be done correctly, should leave his rear fender in actual contact with the front of the car behind him, thus conserving every inch of valuable space. After that, comes backing out of driveways. This should be done boldly and confidently, with no craning of the neck and peering around the corner. If the driver will just try this once on a busy boulevard, I can guarantee he will never be bothered with the problem again.—Parke Cummings, in Saturday Evening Post.

CANNING FRUIT THE WORLD OVER

Fruit is canned in a large number of countries, although there are unfortunately no statistics for the majority, says the Imperial Economic Committee's report on Fruit. The United States and Hawaii (pine-apples only) undoubtedly provide the bulk of the world aggregate, and these two countries probably account for more than the remainder of the world put together. Australia and British Malaya (the latter producing canned pineapples exclusively) are the most important Empire producers, but the output of Canada and South Africa is of growing importance. Canning is also carried out in India, and fruit canning industries have been started in Jamaica, Mauritius, Fiji, and Palestine. In Formosa pineapple canning is assuming considerable proportions, although most of the output is shipped to Japan for consumption in that country. A certain amount of fruit is also canned in Argentina, Brazil and Chile, while Japan has recently developed an important orange canning industry.

Taking these countries as a whole, the principal fruits canned are apricots, peaches, pears, pineapples, and grapefruit, although many of them can important quantities of other fruits, including raspberries, strawberries, loganberries, apples (mostly canned in water), plums, and cherries. These fruits, however, are the principal products of the industries of the United Kingdom and Continental Europe. A further distinction may be made in that the products of the European canning industries do not play an important part in international trade; fruits are generally canned or bottled for home consumption, and exports are small.

An important industry is being built up in Russia where apples, apricots, peaches, pears, and cherries are canned. In Germany strawberries are an important item, while the chief Italian product is cherries, with certain quantities of peaches and apricots. Apricots, peaches, plums and cherries are canned in small quantities in France, also in Spain, with the addition of strawberries and pears. Belgium produces canned cherries, plums and pears, and the output of the Netherlands also comprises these fruits with the addition of peaches. However, in the Netherlands very little fruit is canned, production consisting mainly of bottled fruit. As in the case of other European countries, some of the raw material of the Netherlands industry is probably imported. There is also a canning industry in Switzerland where small quantities of a variety of fruits are processed, including strawberries, raspberries, currants, cherries, and plums, with apricots, pears and apples. Supplies of home-grown fruit are sometimes insufficient for the needs of the industry and imported fruit is used.

Merry-Go-Round

With R. M. R.

FEW ARE THANKFUL

We creatures of the dust who come

"Into this Universe, and Why not knowing Nor Whence, like water willy nilly flowing; And out of it, as Wind along the Waste, I know not Whither, willy nilly blowing."

are an ungrateful lot. At least, most of us are.

We say we have nothing to be thankful for. We are so busy grouching and feeling sorry for ourselves that we haven't time to count our blessings. We think we have a hard row to hoe, that we haven't the soft snap in life the other fellow has—that the Lord has singled us out to take the rap. We are strong on the enervating emotion, self pity, and we are strong on the Of course, you deny it and I deny it. And in the same breath we confirm it by envying our neighbour. If he has more in worldly goods than us, we are dissatisfied—we can almost work up a grudge against him. We never stop to think that he may be envying us for some precious thing we have which he never can possess. And doubtless, in some respects, he thinks we are better off than he.

In the midst of his grumbling, every man should stop and take an inventory. He will be surprised at what he finds. Though he may have a wooden leg, a glass eye and a wart on the end of his nose—though his wife may have cloped with the milkman and his daughter may have married an editor in a weak moment—he can count his blessings one by one. In the first place, he can thank God for having only one eye, thereby seeing only half as much evil, real and imaginary, as we of the common herd.

Compared with such a man, we are indeed fortunate. Most of us have two eyes, two legs, two arms and a pair of hands. In the possession of these alone, if the constitution is not shot through fast living, any man is wealthy. Take an arm, a leg or sight away and you will realize how wealthy you were when you had them all.

The next time you feel like hanging your wife to a sour apple tree, reflect that she possibly has as many good qualities as you—that she possibly did you a favour when she dragged you to the altar. (Many a good little woman has heartily regretted such an action.) When you think you have nothing to be thankful for, thank God for a good wife. Reflect that they are as rare as an original Rembrandt. If she has given you children, spank her children well, but never lose sight of the fact that they are potential Premiers of Canada—even if they deserve a better fate than that.

Yes, sir, you—no matter who you are—have plenty to be thankful for. So I plead with you to count your blessings and help make this dizzy old world a more cheerful place in which to spend your not-so-miserable life, which, in the great scheme of things, is as brief as the flicker of an eyelash.

TAKING IT ALL BACK

When a man has a cold in his noses

It reaches right down to his toes;

And no matter how many the blowses

He can never breathe right through his noses.

He has to keep piling on clotheses;

For he is always feeling half-frozes;

When he tries to think he just dozes—

Where his brain is gone he doesn't knowes.

O curses on colds in the noses;

The cause of which no one dozes;

Right back to the days of old Moses

Men suffered half-frozes

With golds in der dozes

And poured out their woeses

And turned up their toeses.

In black wooden clotheses.

Yeah, I gotta cold. And don't pay any attention to that thankful stuff you just read.

SUPERIOR BABIES

The scintillating Sun carries a front page story in which Doctor So-and-so tells parents how they can produce superior children. The learned M. D. gives detailed advice on the care of the infant prior to birth and after. In other words, he lays down a set of rules for parents to follow. But for this obvious error, he might have proved himself a wise guy.

Not having any children of my own, I am therefore an acknowledged authority on the subject in question. I know, for instance, that you can't tell a young mother how to make her child superior. It is a superior baby from the moment it arrives—and it is not safe for any one to tell her different. The father may sometimes regard his offspring a bit sadly, but a mother, never. Mother will listen patiently to advice—in fact, seek it eagerly—and then disregard it serenely to put into practice her own ideas.

No one will dispute the truism that science has worked wonders for civilization in the alleviation of suffering and kindred applications. But science sometimes steps out of bounds. Science, for instance, cannot aid a combination of the best brains in the world to produce a brainy child. Such an infant is more likely to rise from a hardy son and daughter of the soil, as history proves, and more than likely a plodding country doctor who hasn't kept pace with new-fangled ideas brings this baby into the world. And it grows up disgustingly healthy in contrast to the pampered pets whose child distinction in life is to break the laws of God and man.

After all said and done, there are certain rules for the production of superior children, but I doubt if the learned medico knows them. I'll give him a few pointers about the time my first is ready for school!

RUSSIAN CARE FOR CHILDREN IMPRESSES DIVINE

"In Moscow's Red Square there is an eight-domed church, closed. And at the other end there is a great granite tomb at which a long queue of people wait daily to get a glimpse of the perfectly preserved body of Lenin, lying there for many years. To millions in Russia, Jesus of Nazareth means nothing—but Lenin means a great deal. Lenin and Jesus are fighting it out—but I know who must win. "We must set our own house in order. Christianity will make it impossible for Communism to show its head in the same way it did in Russia."

Sages Differ

In his opening remarks on Russia, the speaker declared that this country was a point of world interest as the greatest experiment of today was going on there. But he warned against some books that had been written on Russia, mentioning particularly the book by Carver Wells which had for its title a Russian word meaning "out of order." Wells had seen through different glasses than Dr. Brewster, who also warned against Will Durant, who had declared that he had never seen any one smile in Russia.

"You can't compare Russia with conditions in the United States, Canada or Great Britain of today," said the speaker, "but you might compare her with conditions in these countries two hundred years ago as Russia is that far behind. Russia didn't take her place in civilization until England and France had had their revolutions."

"Some one always asks me if I saw what I wanted to see or what the Russians wanted me to see. In a country that has one-sixth of the world's population and one-tenth of the world's area, it is impossible to see it all in three weeks or three years, but we saw certain things that are indisputable and incontrovertible. We found a keen vigilance all over Russia. For instance, they objected to having pictures taken of buildings under construction for the reason that the workmanship is crude. They are carrying on a great school of experimentation in this work."

Happy Finland

Dr. Brewster commented on the marked distinction of two peoples when he crossed the Finnish-Russian border. On the Finland side was seen cleanliness, efficiency, apparent prosperity and happiness, while only three hundred yards away on the Russian side poverty, illiteracy, filth, unhappiness and inefficiency were in evidence everywhere. The awful contrast made one think, Finland, for a long time, had enjoyed democratic government, it being the first country in the world to have woman suffrage and prohibition, and it had one of the finest educational systems in the world. Across the border was the remnants of a people who had known no democratic government. It would be interesting to visit that border fifteen years from now to see if the hopes of the Soviet had been fulfilled.

Referring briefly to his visit to Leningrad, formerly St. Petersburg, Dr. Brewster said that his interest in that city had been aroused when he first read the newspaper headlines of the shooting down of 1,500 workers by the Czar's troops on Red Sunday in 1905. "On that day," he said, "the Romanoff dynasty signed its death warrant."

Empty Palaces

One of the impressive features of Europe today was the empty palaces found everywhere. "Even the wildest Socialist could not have dreamed twenty-five years ago that they would all be empty within a quarter of a century," he declared.

Mentioning a visit to the Hermitage, with its rare paintings, many of a religious nature, he pointed out that, in the days of royalty, only the privileged few were allowed to enter. Today, with the religious paintings still preserved, hundreds of thousands were taken through by ardent young Communist lecturers. But Dr. Brewster wondered what these Atheist lecturers were saying when they pointed out a picture such as Rembrandt's "Descent from the Cross." Probably they said: "This is what the Czars lived with. What did it do for them or us?"

"One can live with heavy and with Christ yet not be Christ-like," Dr. Brewster said. "In Russia, they can distort every such picture in their tirade against capitalism."

An interesting feature of his motion pictures of Russia was the showing of the workers with their children on holiday in the Parks of Culture and Rest, where happy and healthful activities were pictured.

Buoyant Spirit in England

After an introduction by Rev. W. W. McPherson, Dr. Brewster opened his lecture with a commentary on England, starting with London, where he found a happy and buoyant spirit as evidence of the Old Country pulling out of the depression. It was notable that the only man out of that vast multitude who halted him on the street and asked for financial assistance hailed from Vancouver.

London Exports Revolutions
"London," he said, "is the mother of revolutions but she always exports them before they are born. The Russian revolution was born in London. Karl Marx wrote his famous book in an old museum there, and out of a great social conference in London Lenin emerged as the outstanding figure. If some other countries had the same foresight as England, they might have saved themselves bloody revolution. Marx himself admitted that the only people in the world who would achieve Socialism without violence would be England. He was a prophet, as Socialism is advancing."

Lady Astor A Human Volcano
Describing meeting Premier Ramsay MacDonald at historic No. 10 Downing Street, the loquacious Lady Astor, "a human volcano continuously in eruption," and others: "There is a feeling when you get in London that England, despite her errors, is right, though she stumbles on."

NEWSPAPERS LEAD AS ADVERTISING MEDIA

All Other Forms Of Paid Publicity Far Behind In Favour With Advertising Agencies

The Bureau of Advertising, A.N.P.A., has just tabulated reports from seventy-one advertising agencies, giving the 1934 percentages spent by each agency in leading advertising media.

The tabulation shows that forty-one of the seventy-one agencies spent the bulk of their appropriations in newspapers, sixteen spent most in magazines, and two favoured radio over other media. Six agencies used trade, business or farm papers predominantly; one spent the bulk of its billing in outdoor advertising.

Thirty-one agencies reported the dollar volume of their 1934 expenditure, in addition to percentage figures, making it possible to determine an average division of expenditure within this group. The combined billing of these thirty-one agencies was apportioned as follows:

Newspapers	53.0%
Magazines	24.8%
Radio	7.2%
Outdoor	4.8%
Direct Mail, Dealer Helps, etc.	6.9%

LET'S QUIT HOARDING

All right, let's quit hoarding. Maybe there isn't a cent in the savings account, perhaps the old sock back of the clock is empty; possibly the pay envelope doesn't have so much in it as formerly.

But there are some other things that count for just as much or more and it's entirely possible that all the poor talk has made us stingy with them.

So let's stop hoarding and put back into circulation such things as human sympathies and smiles and neighbourly kindness.

Let's not be stingy with the little recognitions and appreciations that may help the other fellow to keep on going with his head up. Let us be generous with every thing which will tend to make courage and helpfulness easier for our neighbours.

If we can get this point of view, if we can do these things, the personal troubles we have been hoarding for ourselves will shrink or disappear. We'll have other and pleasanter things to talk about.

Let's quit hoarding the wealth that isn't marked with the dollar sign.—Ex.

Impressions Of Germany

Going into Germany, with its beautiful countryside, Dr. Brewster remarked upon the lavish tables set on the trains for the tourists when German children were crying for food. Such a condition was a blunder of civilization and should be righted.

Arriving in Berlin after the "blood purge," there was little outward evidence of the tragedy but a certain apprehension was in the air. Visiting the Royal Chapel at the top of the Imperial Palace, he observed pictured around the dome the Beatitudes—all except one, "Blessed are the meek." Germans had not reached the point where they recognized the power of meekness. Throughout Berlin were evidences on all hands of the predominance in the minds of the people of military power.

"We heard Hitler speak on July 13th in vindication of his action for the killings," said the speaker. "Hitler is of medium size and rarely smiles, except to children. There was hypnotism and enormous power in his oratory. He is a magnificent orator and has a wonderful mind. Seventy per cent of the people are sworn to Hitler, who gives them a new sense of their nationhood and who has improved social conditions—but no one believes it can last."

Motion pictures of England, Germany and Austria were shown on the screen. At one point, Dr. Brewster referred to his visit to Oberammergau, in the Bavarian Alps, where the Passion Play has been staged for the past three hundred years, with the villagers playing the parts. It was a novel experience to buy gas from Joseph and pay money to Judas! The whole atmosphere was something new under the sun to Canadians and Americans.

During an interval, Mrs. Phyllis Trenwith favoured with two charming vocal solos, with Miss Marie Chapin at the piano.

Mr. Evans and Miss Ford attended the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Convention which was held at Vernon on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

A party of men from Ellison went across to Bear Creek on Sunday and joined in the search for the little child who is lost over there.

As long as the animals hold out we will have something to report. This week Mr. Len Piddock shot a black bear which had invaded his property.

SCHOOL MONITORS FOR CONTROL OF TRAFFIC

Pentiction Considers Action Towards Safety Of Pupils

PENTICTON, Oct. 17.—Seeking to eliminate the street crossing hazard at local schools, a committee has been formed to study the question of school monitors taking charge of traffic at school dismissal hours.

It has been suggested that senior students, in distinctive uniforms, might control traffic along Main Street and also Fairview road when the school children are coming from the grounds. They would not only have authority to stop cars until the youngsters cross but would also direct the pupils' traffic across the street in lanes. This would put a stop to the youngsters' habit of running across Main Street any place in front of the schools.

With provision for specific crossing lanes and for the halting of traffic at these lanes, it is believed danger of injury to youngsters would be obviated.

Appointment of school traffic monitors has been successfully adopted in various American towns where the schools are located on arterial roads. The same system, it is believed, is being used in a few Canadian points.

Before anything definite is done in Pentiction, information will be obtained from American points as to methods used, also from Victoria as to powers which may be vested in these monitors under the Highway Act.

The special committee, which is considering the question, comprises Harley Hatfield, Sergeant Gammon, Principal Boggs, H. B. Morley and R. J. McDougall.

HEAVY PRODUCTION CUTS TIMOTHY SEED PRICES

Seed Now Selling In Canada At Extremely Low Figures

Recently, the Markets Division of the Seed Branch, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, released a timothy seed crop report which indicates an abnormally large production of this seed in Canada in 1935. It would appear that there may be about eleven million pounds of seed available for commerce as against five million pounds in 1934 and an annual consumption in recent years of approximately seven million pounds. Owing to the surplus in sight, Canada is now for the first time in history on an export price basis in respect to this seed. In past years prices at Chicago, plus freight and import charges, were the basis of value in Canada, whereas this year, domestic prices may be based on Chicago quotations less freight and export charges. As a result of this changed situation prices are now very low. At this time last year timothy seed was selling in Canada at fifteen to twenty cents per pound as against three to four and a half cents per pound at the present time. Surplus production this year resulted from two main factors, i.e., the high prices of last year which stimulated production and the abnormally large crop which permitted farmers generally to leave fields for seed rather than cut for hay.

FINE FOLLOWS MOTOR COLLISION

Walhachin Man Convicted On Charge Of Driving Too Common Danger

As the result of a motor accident in which two cars were damaged, Oliver Moet, of Walhachin, was arraigned before Magistrate J. F. Burne in Police Court on Saturday morning and fined $10 and costs of $2.50 for driving to the common danger.

Rounding the corner at Bernard Avenue and Ellis Street on Friday at about 5 p.m., Moet took too sharp a turn, cutting in in front of a car driven by O. E. Lindgren, of Rutland, who could not avoid a crash.

None of the occupants of the vehicles was injured. Damage to the extent of $20 was done to each car.

Rather an amusing incident occurred in connection with the accident. A local man who was driving with Moet took such an active interest in helping the police investigate the collision on the spot that Constable Thomas had to arrest him to get him out of the way. This gentleman had his spirits subdued in Court on Saturday morning, when he was released on suspended sentence.

"The danger of boys of adolescent age becoming discouraged because of inability to find employment is greatly lessened by Scout training. Scouting builds up a boy's character, enabling him to stand up against misfortunes, and to look beyond himself."—Lord Baden-Powell.

Again illustrating the traditional Scout resourcefulness, the boys of the Bolton, Ont., Scout Troop, to raise camping funds, secured the loan of a large telescope and advertised "peeks into the heavens" at a moderate fee. Their announcement in the local paper described the stars "now showing."

The last Scout census showed 4,740 Special Test (handicapped) Boy Scouts in the British Isles. They comprised 2,062 crippled boys, 438 blind, 592 deaf and dumb, 1,466 mentally deficient and 182 epileptic. The Scout training and atmosphere has been of great value to these boys, in many cases giving them an entirely new outlook on life.

"The 4,000,000 Boy Scouts and Girl Guides throughout the world, all imbued with the spirit of friendliness, are a great heaven working for world peace and brotherhood. In addition are the several millions who have gone through Scout and Guide training. The young men have a will for peace, and the application of the Scout Law in business life makes for better standards."—Lord Baden-Powell.

"Then raise his wages," suggested an Irishman.

TREE FRUIT BOARD LOSES CASE AT PENTICTON

from a permit system to one through an agency.

"The whole purport of the 'Act,' in my opinion, is that the policy, powers and privileges shall be administered by a Board elected by the growers."

"I hold that the Provisional Board had not the power to make the order dated July 4th, 1935."

"I hereby dismiss the charge against the accused."

"Dated at Penticton, B.C., this 22nd day of October, 1935."

The case opened on Friday and was adjourned until Monday, when Mr. Haskins, who himself conducted the prosecution on Friday, engaged Mr. M. Colquhoun to prosecute in view of the fact that he had to spend considerable time in the witness box.

The whole argument in the case centred round the question of whether or not the Board had power to pass the order referred to on July 4th, 1935. By an Order-in-Council passed on June 29th, 1935, the marketing scheme was amended, such amendments to be made by the Board.

The Board was not elected until July 12th, and the defence claimed that the 1934 scheme had been revoked rather than amended, thus making the Board a Provisional Board under a new scheme until election on July 12th. It was held that such a Provisional Board had no power to make an order such as had been made.

The whole question resting on the interpretation of whether the 1934 scheme had been amended or revoked, the prosecution contended that, under the Interpretations Act, the magistrate should so interpret the document as to give it the meaning obviously intended where there were words absolutely conflicting. "Revoke" and "amend" conflicted. The document (the "amendment") contained the words that it provided for the holding of meetings before June 15th, 1935, therefore it was intended as an amendment and was clearly shown that there was no intention to revoke. One could not

EAST KELOWNA

School children enjoyed a holiday last Friday, as both members of the staff were attending the Teachers' Convention held in Vernon on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week.

Friends of Col. Moodie are congratulating him on his return from hospital. It has been just seven weeks since he had the misfortune to break his pelvis, and a recovery from an injury so serious in so short a time is quite remarkable.

The Boy Scouts sponsored a very successful dance in the Community Hall on Friday, Oct. 18th. A good crowd was out to enjoy the Kelownians' music, ensuring the financial success of the undertaking.

The school lacrosse team entertained the boys from Mission Creek, and after a splendid game the score was tied at 1-1. An overtime period failed to break the deadlock, so it was declared a drawn game. A splendid spirit was shown by the boys of both teams and it is confidently expected that the playing of this most popular game will do much to foster a spirit of true sportsmanship among the boys. Chiefly through participation in these sports does a person develop the enviable to "lose in good spirit and win without boasting."

Evidence that the most splendid autumn in the memory of even the oldest residents of the district might be approaching its close was presented by snow which whitened surrounding hills on Monday afternoon.

say on July 1st that something had to be done on June 15th of the same year.

The prosecution held that where these words were conflicting if the straight meaning of the word "revoke" was taken the document made nonsense; if the meaning of the word "amended," which occurred repeatedly, was taken it made sense. The magistrate should therefore ignore the word "revoke" and rule that the first scheme was amended. Then, if the first scheme was not revoked but amended, the 1934 Board was in existence until July 12th, when the 1935 Board was elected.

The magistrate stated that he could not take it upon himself to interpret the word "revoke" in the Order-in-Council as meaning "amend."

Defence counsel, Messrs. Boyle and Long, took the view that the intent was to revoke the 1934 scheme, in which case at the time of the passing of the order contested in court, only a Provisional Board, without powers, was operating.

During a discussion of the M. & M. Fruit Co. case at Vernon in which Mr. Haskins declared that the defendant in that action had been found guilty of the same charge as laid against the present defendant, the Fruit Board chairman and the magistrate clashed briefly.

Referring to a statement made by Mr. Haskins, the magistrate said: "You have to come clean, Mr. Haskins." "I resent your attitude," retorted the Board chairman, "in inferring that I am trying to deceive. I do not propose to be addressed in that manner."

Monday's Proceedings

An account of Friday's proceedings appears elsewhere in this issue.

Mr. Long continued his cross-examination of Mr. Haskins on Monday morning. Mr. Haskins engaged Mr. M. M. Colquhoun as counsel to assist him in the case, having found it inconvenient to be a witness and at the same time to handle the prosecution.

After lengthy argument between counsel, it was agreed that the matter of the proper or improper election of the Local Board could not be decided in the lower court. However, the point at issue on Monday was whether or not the Board had power to pass edicts as between the time of its election and the date of the Order-in-Council that changed the Act.

Another point at issue was that in the actual Order-in-Council the word "revoke" was used, while in the preamble itself the word "amend" appeared. It was the contention of Mr. Haskins and Mr. Colquhoun, as stated in Court, that the intention was obviously to infer an amendment and not a revocation.

The defence contended that, if the Order-in-Council was intended as a revoking of the previous statute and the new one did not take effect until after the election, then the order of July 4th would be nullified.

In contesting this, Mr. Colquhoun quoted from several sections of the statutes, submitting that the Board should remain in office until such time as it was succeeded by a duly elected Board for the next term. And, as a matter of fact, the Board had succeeded itself in personnel. In so far as the Act was concerned, the intention was to amend it and not to change it entirely.

The magistrate expressed doubt on this point.

Reasons for Mr. Long asking Mr. Haskins questions concerning the election of the Board were brought out in his summary for the defence in which it was stated that only growers duly registered should have a vote. In the evidence of Mr. Haskins and Mr. Barrat, it was indicated that persons had been added to the list at a specific meeting where the voting for delegates to attend a nominating convention was held. Such procedure, Mr. Long maintained, was contrary to the provisions for the election of delegates, which stated that notice must be sent out prior to the meeting to enable them to vote as registered growers.

In contradiction of this point, Mr. Haskins stated that, as all three members of the Board were present at the meeting, it was decided to permit such growers, who had asked to be permitted to vote, to do so.

Regarding the actual ballot itself, as held in July, Mr. Long brought out that, at the bottom of the ballot, which

THE NEW FORD V-8 FOR 1936

Why do we say The New Ford V-8 for 1936?

What is new about it?

Of course, the newest engine in the low-price car field is still the V-8 engine. Since Ford made it available to all car users (keeping it as economical as cars with fewer cylinders) the Ford V-8 has been the newest engine on the market, and remains the newest for 1936.

You may buy a car on minor "talking points"—some specially advertised feature "with the car thrown in"—but, after all, it is the engine you buy when you buy a car. Hence we put the engine first.

Other new points about the car make a long list.

Its lines are much more beautiful. The hood is longer and sweeps forward over the distinctive new radiator grille, giving the car a length and grace that are instantly impressive. The fenders are larger, with a wide flare. Horns are concealed behind circular grilles beneath the headlamps. New steel wheels.

Ford upholstery—always of sterling quality and excellent taste—is rich and enduring. The appointments of the car have a new touch of refinement. There is no question about the increased beauty of the Ford V-8 for 1936.

In more practical matters, many improvements have been made.

Steering is made easier by a new steering gear ratio. The cooling system circulates 4½ gallons of water through a new, larger radiator. Natural thermosiphon action is assisted by two centrifugal water pumps. New style hood louvers permit a rapid air-flow around the engine.

Easier, quieter shifting of Ford gears—The gear shift lever now travels a shorter distance.

The two qualities you want in brakes—Brakes that stop the car with ease and certainty. Ford Super-Safety Brakes of the long-tested, fool-proof, mechanical design.

Safety—as always—in the electrically welded genuine steel body. Safety Glass all around at no extra cost. Hundreds have written grateful letters because this glass has protected the safety of their families.

A car you can drive without strain all day, if you like, in city or country. Steady, holds the road, responds to the driver's touch like a well-trained horse. You don't have to "push" or "fight" the Ford V-8—driver and car easily get on terms of good understanding with each other.

An engine has much to do with the roominess of a car. Very much indeed. A long engine uses up car space. The compact V-8 engine permits much of the ordinary engine space to be used by passengers.

It really is a great car in every way, this 1936 Ford V-8—the finest, safest, most dependable Ford car ever built. Get complete details at your nearest Ford dealer.

Vernon Drag Hounds Make Good Run At Okanagan
Mission

(By Our Okanagan Mission Correspondent)

One or two residents of the Mission asked the Vernon Drag Hounds if they would come down and have a hunt in the Mission country, which they very kindly did. There was a large crowd at the meet on Sunday. The Vernon hounds were very quick and ran the line in their keenness, but the Master soon had them right again and they went away at a great pace over the Robinson Flat, swinging right-handed and coming back on the south side on the Healy Flat to Cedar Creek, west towards the lake, north to Bell's timber lot, swinging left-handed again towards the lake, where they checked, but "Dempsey" soon found the line and hounds ran on the ridge above the lake towards Cedar Creek, crossing the road at the Boy Scout camp, then north to Dixon Flat and finishing about a hundred yards from the road in the timber.

It was a great gallop and there was some very good work, hounds giving tongue and speaking to the line well. "Dempsey" is very true and the people in cars heard the dark hound with his deep voice, giving tongue long before they saw the pack.

The Vernon visitors were delighted with the hunt and expressed a wish to come down again. The Mission youngsters had rustled every pony they could get and one boy very generously mounted his friend on his own pony, while he rode bareback on his father's work horse.

We are very much indebted to Mr. Angle and Mr. Fuller, who put up the horses for the week-end, and to Mrs. Angle, who lunched the Vernon visitors.

The drag, oil of aniseed, was laid on Saturday afternoon. It is pulled over the ground and at intervals lifted off for fifty or a hundred yards. If this were not done, the field could never live with hounds, as the pace would be too fast. Hounds check from time to time, when they have lost the scent. They have to cast themselves to pick up the line again and this gives the horses a breather.

For All Purposes

Mrs. Finnigan's husband had committed suicide by hanging himself in their large attic. Mrs. McManus, who lived next door, decided that she would call and express her sympathy.

"You'd better not go," Mr. McManus advised her, "you're always saying the wrong thing."

"Oh, I'll talk about nothing but the weather," Mrs. McManus said. And so she went.

"It's a fine day, isn't it, Mrs. Finnigan," she said.

"Yes, and I'm glad for I can hang my clothes out," said Mrs. Finnigan.

"You should be worrying about the weather," replied Mrs. McManus, "you with such a nice big attic to hang things in!"

Willie's Excuse

Willie's little sister came to the school-room door and handed the following note to the teacher: "Teacher, please excuse Willie—he caught a skunk."

SEASONABLE DISHES THAT CONTAIN MILK

Recipes by Helen E. Kimball

We have it on the authority of no one less than Aristotle that people eat more in the fall than they do during other seasons. No housewife and mother of a family of youngsters has to go to the encyclopedia to find that out! What she does have to find out is what new recipes there are for easily prepared and nourishing foods, dishes in which milk and vegetables or fruits and all kinds of health-giving ingredients are used.

One food chemist says: "Milk and leaves of plants occupy unique positions among available foodstuffs, in that they are so constituted as to correct, when suitable amounts are included in the diet, the defects of cereals, tubers, roots and meats." It may safely be said that every nutritionist agrees with this statement, although fruits are usually included with these "protective foods."

Following are recipes in which milk is used with either fruits or vegetables and which are a good choice for a family in which there are children:

Baked Cabbage

2 quarts finely cut cabbage
1/2-pound package Chateau cheese, diced
1 cup evaporated milk
1 cup water, salt, pepper
Buttered bread crumbs
Parboil cabbage in salted water. Place a layer of cabbage in buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with half the diced cheese. Add evaporated milk and water which have been blended, salt and pepper. Sprinkle top with buttered bread crumbs. Bake about 20 minutes in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) or until brown. Serves eight.

Escalloped Carrots

2 cups sliced carrots
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 small onion, minced
2 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Dash of nutmeg
1 cup evaporated milk
1 cup liquid in which carrots were cooked

Place carrots in buttered baking dish. Cover the carrots with boiling water. Add parsley, sugar and salt and cook until carrots are tender. Drain, saving liquid. Melt butter in saucepan; add onion and cook 5 minutes. Stir in flour and remaining seasonings. Add milk and carrot liquid, stirring until the mixture is smooth and thick. Place half the carrots in buttered baking dish. Cover with half the sauce. Add remaining carrots and pour remainder of the sauce over carrots. Sprinkle bread crumbs over top and dot with bits of butter. Bake until crumbs are brown. Serves six.

Cream Of Celery Soup

2 slices onion
3 cups finely chopped celery
2 cups water
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1/2 bay leaf
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup cream foundation for soup
Paprika
Simmer onion, celery, water, parsley and seasonings about 30 minutes on low heat. Force through puree sieve. Blend with cream foundation. Reheat. Serve with sprinkling of paprika. Serves eight.

Cream Foundation For Soups

3 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 1/4 cups evaporated milk
2 1/4 cups water or white stock
Melt butter in double boiler. Add flour and seasonings. Blend thoroughly. Add evaporated milk and water slowly, stirring occasionally.

NOTE: For extra richness, a half cup more of evaporated milk may be added just before serving.

Apple Souffle

2/3 cup sweetened condensed milk
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 egg, separated

BEAVERDELL MINE MAKES NEW STRIKE

Kelowna And Penticton Men Interested In Discovery Of Big Ore Body At B.A. Silver Mine

Shareholders in the B.A. Silver Company mine at Beaverdell, located close to the Bounty, have received the gratifying news that extension of the ore chute which was mined about twenty-five years ago had been located on the surface, constituting the biggest surface strike ever made on the south end of the hill.

This is good news particularly for Kelowna and Penticton people, who put up the capital for development work, and follows the announcement last week of a second dividend in a few months by the Wellington-Beaverdell mine, in which local capital is also invested.

Mr. L. R. Smith, Managing Director of B.A. Silver, has received an assay return from a general sample taken across two feet of leached surface ore and this shows the very satisfactory content of eighty-three ounces per ton in silver.

Over $4,000 worth of ore was shipped from this mine in 1909 or 1910, but there has been little development since then up until May 1st of this year, when prospecting was started with Kelowna and Penticton capital.

A number of very promising showings were soon uncovered, and the early encounter of high grade ore is extremely gratifying.

Mr. Smith states that the mine will be shipping ore before the end of the year. The Beaverdell-Wellington mine, which has been operating for about fifteen years, has been a steady producer, but it was not until July of this year that one of the best strikes on the hill of high grade ore was made at this mine. In July, when the mine was without ore, a rich vein was struck following some development work, and it is now estimated that from $300,000 to $400,000 worth of ore is in sight.

The first dividend declared after the new strike was 30 per cent, and a week ago—less than two months after the first dividend—a second was declared of 40 per cent, bringing the total up to 70 per cent in a comparatively short time. Furthermore, it is understood that the Directors are planning on declaring another dividend of about 30 per cent before Christmas, thus giving the shareholders a total of 100 per cent in 1935.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

INJURIES INFLICTED BY CAR ON CYCLIST

Kelowna, B.C., Oct. 21, 1935.

The Editor,
Kelowna Courier.
Dear Sir,

In the "Local and Personal" column of the Kelowna Courier published last Thursday, the 17th instant, there appeared an item that my daughter, Miss Ada Murray, had been slightly injured when, while riding on a bicycle on the Vernon Road near the City limits, she had collided with a car driven by Mr. John Cushing, and that she had been taken to the Kelowna Hospital for treatment of minor cuts and bruises.

The fact is, however, that while riding on her own proper side of the road my daughter was run down by Mr. Cushing's car and the injuries, far from being minor, are quite serious. As the matter may quite possibly be the subject of legal proceedings, I shall write no more here, but I know that you would wish to correct any impression from the above item, which, uncontradicted, would convey the idea that my daughter had been in some degree responsible for the accident.

Yours respectfully,
JAMES MURRAY.

The curves are to be eliminated from the Peachland roads according to the plans of the Roads Committee, which are now under consideration. A change at the Trimble corner is contemplated which will cut across the corner of the northern Trimble lot and straighten the road by having one turn instead of the present double curve at this point.

A new road is under consideration to do away with the sharp steep turn on Somerset Avenue. Leaving the present road north of the Highway property, the new section will lead directly up the ravine to meet the present road below the Cameron property.

Both of these projects are to be carried on with the $2,000 relief money recently promised by the government.

VALIDITY OF FRUIT BOARD QUESTIONED

Keane Case At Penticton Adjournd For Production Of Evidence On Points Raised

PENTICTON, Oct. 19.—Validity of the election and official powers of the B. C. Tree Fruit Board has been called into question, in the trial of Mr. F. H. Keane, of Penticton, charged with violating the rulings of the fruit body. This bombshell was thrown into court by the defence attorney, Mr. W. R. Long, of the firm of Boyle & Long, on Friday afternoon, in the new courtroom in the Burch Block. Magistrate G. A. McLelland is presiding.

Adjournment was granted at shortly after 3 o'clock on Friday, to permit production of evidence in connection with a meeting alleged to have been held in Penticton on the night of June 6th, and also in connection with the notice of poll and resultant election of the Tree Fruit Board, same being a vital point in the argument between Mr. W. R. Long and Mr. W. E. Haskins, chairman of the Board, who was in the witness box under cross-examination at the time of the adjournment.

The case is adjourned until 10:30 o'clock Monday morning.

Mr. Haskins refused to agree to the adjournment until Mr. Keane had signified that he would not ship any fruit during the interim between the present session and the subsequent appearance in court. Mr. Haskins is acting as his own counsel in the action against the veteran Penticton fruit grower.

Specifically the charge against Mr. Keane reads: "Did market a product within the meaning of the British Columbia Tree Fruit scheme under the said Act, is subject to the control and regulation of the B. C. Tree Fruit Board, in that he did at the time and place aforesaid market a carload of apples within that part of Canada to which the scheme relates, otherwise than through an agency designated by the said British Columbia Tree Fruit Board as an agency through which the said product should be marketed, contrary to the order of the said British Columbia Tree Fruit Board made on the 4th day of July, 1935, and contrary to the provisions of the Natural Products Marketing Act, 1934, and amending acts."

In summary, the charge is that early in October the defendant shipped a carload of McIntosh apples from Penticton, using a jumbo crate lined with cardboard, contrary to the ruling made by the B. C. Tree Fruit Board, and the action is brought under clause 18 of the Act.

After the formal plea of "not guilty" was entered, a few moments after the commencement of the trial at 11 o'clock on Friday morning, the legal battle, with the two lawyers contesting every point, was under way. Magistrate McLelland did not permit Mr. Haskins to read into the transcription of evidence certain of the rulings of the Board, maintaining that these could be delivered under argument in the box.

In his first appearance in the box, Mr. Haskins who was later re-called, was examined by Constable W. McCulloch of the B. C. Police, regarding the foundation for the action. Other witnesses included Mr. W. T. Fleet, Fruit Inspector for the Dominion Government, and Mr. Frank L. Brown, agent for the Canadian National Railways, who each gave evidence regarding the car of fruit concerned in the action.

One point which was brought into the hearing by Mr. Long, for the defence, was the alleged discrepancy and contradiction between the Vegetable and Honey Act and the Natural Products Marketing Act. Mr. Haskins stated that he considered the former Act had to do entirely with a tax. Mr. Keane is stated to be licensed under the former enactment, and carries on, his attorney informed the court, a series of experiments in marketing and packaging of fruit, the results of which he reports to Ottawa.

In connection with these experiments, and due to the fact that he had a specially marked Mr. Keane wrote to the Board, citing these facts and asking for a special permit or licence. Mr. Long quoted from a copy of this letter alleged to have been written by his client to the Board. Mr. Haskins would not admit that it was actually a copy of the letter written to the Board, but stated that he recalled a letter of similar nature had been received, the date of which he was not certain.

Under suggestion of the presiding magistrate, this point was tabled temporarily, Mr. Haskins maintaining the present action, which was a criminal one, was not the place or time to enter such argument, but that it should be brought into a civil case. His Worship, however, did not entirely support this contention, saying that, in case of a municipal enactment, its constitutionality might easily be tested in a criminal action brought under its provisions.

There was considerable argument regarding an alleged registered list of growers, which Mr. Long maintained existed. Mr. Haskins would not admit the existence of such a list, but said that it was possible there was one in the records of the main office at Kelowna.

In connection with the meeting of June 6th, Mr. Long desired to know of the witness if some growers had not been permitted to vote as not having been on the list of registered growers, and that there had been some discussion about the voting. This will likely be cleared up when the case comes back into court following the adjournment.

Mr. Haskins said: "I oppose adjournment unless defendant will give an undertaking not to ship until after the adjournment." After a brief discussion, Mr. Keane, through his attorney, signified he would agree to this, and would not ship any more fruit until the case resumes.

Starch Desserts

According to the pamphlet, "Milk Desserts," issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, starch desserts comprise the large group of milk puddings which are thickened with cornstarch or flour. To ensure a smooth texture and good flavour, when making desserts of this type, the following points should be kept in mind:

(1) Cook in top of double boiler; (2) mix the cornstarch or flour with sugar and blend with cold milk before adding to the scalded milk; (3) stir constantly while the mixture is thickening, then occasionally until the mixture is cooked; (4) cook mixture until the flavour of raw starch has disappeared; (5) if whole eggs or egg yolks are being added, cook cornstarch or flour mixture first, then add a small amount of hot mixture to beaten eggs and combine with mixture in double boiler and cook for three minutes longer; (6) if beaten egg whites are being added, fold into pudding after removing from heat; and (7) flavouring, nuts and fruits should be added after the pudding has been removed from heat.

STANDARD BOXES FOR DRESSED POULTRY

Soft Wood Should Invariably Be Used

Hardwood of any kind is not suitable for standard dressed poultry boxes. According to the Canadian Standards, lumber used for making these boxes must be a sound, clear, dry quality of soft wood planed smooth on both sides, free from knots, splits, scars, straight edge stock but not tongued or grooved. When boxes are made up, there are five essential points: (1) each side and end must be in one piece and be square cut, (2) tops and bottoms must be flush with and fit flush over both sides, (3) an allowance must be made for a small space, of not more than 1/8 inch, between the boards on top and bottom of the box to assist quick sharp freezing when placed in storage, (4) the bottoms and tops should be in at least three pieces, and (5) wide boards should be used as outside boards in both tops and bottoms. The nails used should only be long enough and strong enough to give the necessary strength, so that the weight of poultry contained in the box may be shipped in safety.

In packing, strict observance should be paid to the allowance variation in weight in birds packed in the same box—squab and broiling chickens not over 1/4 pound per bird; all other chickens and fowl not over 1/2 pound; turkeys and geese not more than 3 pounds. It is recommended that this individual variation of turkeys and geese be limited to two pounds. The weight variation for ducks packed in the same box is one pound per bird.

Under suggestion of the presiding magistrate, this point was tabled temporarily, Mr. Haskins maintaining the present action, which was a criminal one, was not the place or time to enter such argument, but that it should be brought into a civil case. His Worship, however, did not entirely support this contention, saying that, in case of a municipal enactment, its constitutionality might easily be tested in a criminal action brought under its provisions.

A loss for the season of $31.34. All bills were paid but $50.00 is still due to the Scout Association for hall rent for the last month of the season, and there is an outstanding bank loan of $25.00, so that the season will begin with a total indebtedness of $75.00. Gate receipts totalled $2,328.25, which showed an increase over the previous year, but expenses, especially travelling, heavier. Advertising, referees' fees and entertainment all entailed larger outlays.

Commenting on the details of the statement, the Treasurer stated that the high light of the season from the financial end was the visit of the New York Harlem Globe Trotters, which yielded a gate of $455.00. Had it not been for that game, the club would have been able to carry through to the finals. The annual Eskimo Jamboree turned out to be a financial flop, and it was thought that, if no money could be made out of that dance, the best course to follow would be to do away with it. The financial statement would have been on the right side in all probability, if the finals for the B. C. Senior A—Senior B series had been staged at Kelowna, but such was not the case. In conclusion, Mel asked all those who could to pay their membership fee as soon as possible, so that the club would have a few dollars to work on.

Committee Reports

Answering the call of the President for committee reports, Ken Shepherd, chairman of the Transportation Committee, said that things had worked quite well and he thought that his committee always had been on occasion a very difficult to find. He thanked Max Oakes, the other member of the committee, for his untiring efforts to help the club in this regard.

Roy Hunt spoke for the Advertising Committee. Probably some of those present considered the amount expended on advertising was too high, but when a comparison was made, figures showed that the average amount spent per game amounted to about $11.00. It would not have been so much but for the visit of the Harlem Globe Trotters, in regard to which between forty and fifty dollars was spent, but it was well worth while, as the gate receipts showed. He thanked the rest of the committee for their help during the season, especially Frank Keevil, his right hand bower.

President's Report

President Dick then presented his annual report, covering all phases of the club's activities. He began by welcoming the large attendance of about seventy as a happy omen for the success of the club during the coming season.

He attributed the deficit on last year's operations chiefly to the increase in the mileage travelled by the teams, due principally to the fact most of them got into the finals, and they had to be financed for the rest of the season. Another reason was that the absence of the Senior A-B series here made a considerable difference to the funds. He stressed that some people had criticized the Senior team travelling to Victoria for the finals, also in regard to the Washington tour under the auspices of the Interior play-offs.

However, the team had learned a lot of useful ball while on their trip in Washington, and it undoubtedly had helped them to win against the B. C. championship in the Senior B division. He believed that this year the team would show more than last year how they had profited by acquiring such knowledge. Some people had said that all the boys wanted was a trip to the Coast, when they had to travel there for the A-B finals. This was not so, as the Victoria team had the jump on Kelowna so far as getting the games was concerned, and to do other than to defeat the team would have meant that Kelowna would have been good policy, as it was Kelowna that originated the idea of the series and, if they had defaulted, there would have been no question as to the throwing out of that part of the B. C. Association's by-laws at the annual meeting in Vancouver in September.

Another reason was that the players had to sacrifice work and money when they took such a journey, so that it was not just a case of them wanting to go for a trip.

In considering the loss on the season's operations, it should be remembered, said President Dick, that the club looked after the expenses of the younger teams with the exception of the Junior team that drew the gates while the other teams cost just as much to move around without deriving any revenue from them. However, the real idea of the game was to promote sportsmanship, fair play and healthful exercise among the younger players of the city.

Referring to the visit of the Harlem Globe Trotters as one of the high lights of the season, the President drew a round of applause when he stated that he was glad to announce that they had already written him asking for another series of games throughout the Okanagan during the coming season. The Washington tour was a great success, in as much as the team learned many more things about the game. The Penticton series was by all odds the most exciting and the closest ever to be staged in the Interior by two teams, and Kelowna would have to play, heads-up, ball this year.

Another high light was the victory of the Kelowna team over the New Westminster Adanacs, winning every game of a series of three, and it was thought that this might have had something to do with the reason for the Coast teams not wanting to come to the Orchard City for the finals.

Honours Achieved

Kelowna had again won her share of the championships. She had captured

ed three Interior titles and went further to win one provincial title and to take a crack at the latter effort. Winning the Senior B Men's Interior title after a hard battle with Penticton, the Famous Players next took on Kamloops and Trail successfully, and then they defeated the Vancouver Forsts in a two-game series for the provincial title. The Senior C Men had a very successful season, winning the championship by defeating Oliver in the finals, after having eliminated several other teams during the play-offs. The Junior Boys, sponsored by the Kelowna School, had little trouble in winning the Interior title and just missed taking the provincial championship when they met Ladysmith on the local floor in a one-game final. It was a great game and it was due to a touch of stage fright that the Kelowna boys lost it. In this connection, the speaker referred in glowing terms to the splendid work of the school staff in sponsoring and coaching the boys and voiced the appreciation of the club of their efforts to improve the younger players in the game. Some material was shown amongst the boys, who in time would be the Seniors representing the city.

Two of the local Executive, Roy Hunt and himself, together with Chas. Friend, had attended the meeting of the B. C. Association and after a tough fight to keep the Senior A-B series in the by-laws of the Association. In conclusion, the President expressed the thanks of the club to all and sundry who had helped in any way. He wished especially to thank The Courier for the valuable space given to the basketball column written for the Famous Players Corporation, for the donation of the new outfits for the Senior team, given them at the commencement of the season's activities; to the ladies of the club and mothers, for their support in raising funds through bridge drives for the tour of Washington; to the girls, for putting the team on the road in such a fine way; to the various committees working under him: Mel Young and Harry Mitchell, for their cold job in the box office looking after the finance department; Roy Hunt and Frank Keevil, for their efforts on the advertising end; Ken Shepherd and Max Oakes, for their bit on the transportation end; Bill Newton, as door man, and Frank Coles, caretaker at the Scout Hall, who always did his part for all who used the hall; Kay Hill, for her wonderful work as Secretary, keeping everything in A1 shape during the whole season, for which he extended special thanks; and, finally, to all fans and supporters for their fine loyalty during the past year.

Appointment Of Manager Deferred

After discussion, the election of a manager for the coming season was left in the hands of the Executive. It was thought it might be advisable to scout round and see who there might be suitable for the position, and who ever was recommended by the Executive would be discussed by the various teams before anything final was done in the matter.

Other Matters Left To Executive

The question of a City League being run again and the possibility of cutting out the Senior C entry received discussion, but both matters were left eventually with the Executive to deal with as they might see fit. This year the schools will be looking after the Junior and Intermediate teams, which it was thought was the best arrangement that could possibly be made.

Hal Petman, stated that the Scout Association would be entering a Junior team this season, but they had their own practice nights and they would not conflict either with the club or the schools.

The matter of season tickets was brought up by Mr. Keevil, but it was turned over to the Executive for decision.

The advisability of prohibiting smoking during games evoked a lot of discussion without reaching any other conclusion than reference to the Executive.

Yet another matter referred to the Executive was the question of putting on a musical comedy show in the Empress Theatre, which was discussed at length, many points being urged, both for and against, before it was turned over to that busy committee.

It was decided to start practices as soon as possible, and the Executive will interview the Scout Association at an early date to ascertain if the same arrangement can be made as last year in regard to the rent of the hall.

The question of coaches was left with the various teams to decide among themselves.

President Parkinson mentioned that the Senior team would be much the same as last year, except that their old friend Harold Johnston would be with the boys again after an absence of two years at the Coast. This should strengthen the team considerably, and it was the general opinion that they should again prove to be at the top in the Interior, even though they will have the toughest opposition this year from Penticton and Trail that they have ever had.

Before the meeting closed, votes of thanks were passed to the press and the retiring officers for their valuable work, and it was the general feeling that the coming season would be one of the best in the history of the club.

"Ginger" Coote, famous flier who played such an important part in saving the life of Mr. C. H. Bond, the Rutland man who was lost in the Grey-stoke area, recently added another mercy flight to his already long list of skyway kindnesses.

Word was received at Lytton that a miner was at Bralorne in a serious condition and that hospital treatment in Vancouver was imperative. The flier hastened to Bralorne, picked up his patient, flew to Vancouver and saw the sick man safely in hospital within three hours of receipt of the first call for help.

it's FINE either way!

It's so handy to have a package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the kitchen. Serve it as a cereal. Use it also as a wholesome ingredient in your muffins, breads, omelets, waffles, etc.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to aid regular habits. ALL-BRAN is also rich in vitamin B, as well as iron, an element of the blood.

Two tablespoons daily will correct common constipation, due to insufficient bulk in the diet. In severe cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

The "bulk" of ALL-BRAN does not break down during digestion as does that of leafy vegetables, and is therefore more effective for furnishing the needed "bulk." It is a delicious laxative food... far better than patent medicines.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

CHURCH BASEMENT USED AS CLASSROOM

Vernon Parent Declares Quarters Injurious To Health Of Pupils

VERNON, Oct. 23.—Ralph Pearson, a local ratepayer, clashed with the Vernon City Council when he charged that school children were not being rightfully treated by being forced to attend class in the basement of the United Church, where a class is being held owing to congestion at the High School.

Mr. Pearson criticized the School Board for the slow manner in which the new building, which is being erected to take care of the overflow temporarily, is nearing completion, and declared that the children in the basement were suffering in health. He contradicted Dr. Morris' statement to the effect that the basement was not injurious to their health.

The Council supported the action of the School Trustees.

ONE SEE IS WORTH A MILLION TELLS—Confucius.

Perhaps the old sage who first uttered these words had no thought in mind of such material things as men's clothing. Certainly there is no subject to which this proverb can be applied more aptly. No amount of "TELLS" of any clothing line can equal one "SEE" for yourself. There are, however, many things to "TELL" about the new ideas and colourings for this season, so that you may more thoroughly enjoy the "SEE" and appreciate its originality.

QUALITY MERCHANDISE

KELOWNA, B. C.

TO THE PEOPLE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

YOU will recall that upon numerous occasions I have advised you that it was necessary that amendments should be made to the British North America Act in order that British Columbia might be placed in a thoroughly sound position. I also pointed out that there were other matters of common concern to the provinces and the Dominion upon which new understanding and agreement should be reached but which can be adjusted under the constitution as it now stands.

I have been advised by the Rt. Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, that a conference of the provinces and the Federal Government at Ottawa will be called sometime in November to consider these matters.

I had hoped this year to visit all parts of this province and regret that I have not been able to do so on account of pressing work. I have, however, during the past twenty years, many times visited every section of British Columbia as a Minister of the Crown and as Leader of the Opposition. With this personally gained knowledge and with the advice of my colleagues and members of the legislature who represent all parts of the province, I feel that I am in intimate touch with the requirements of our people.

During the past year, through foresight in keeping a nest egg of some two million dollars, your government was able to carry out a considerable amount of work of very useful character in various parts of the province. Approximately 300 miles of hard surfacing of roads was carried out this year.

In this regard I was criticised from certain quarters, who alleged that the money was being spent in the various constituencies for partisan purposes. These critics claimed that the expenditure should have been concentrated in the larger centres. Your government is determined that all parts of the province shall receive equal consideration.

Special provision was made in the sum of five hundred thousand dollars to assist our municipalities.

During the two years your government has been in office it has had to face two problems: (1) to meet the immediate present with the resources at our command, and; (2) to lay plans for future upbuilding.

Next month, accompanied by several of my colleagues, I shall proceed to Ottawa to go into consultation with the other provinces and the Dominion. I feel sure that we shall carry with us the very best wishes of our people as a whole for a most successful mission.
